Can I change my Kerberos username?

Q: Can I change my Kerberos username?

Answer

Usually not, except in special cases. There are so many records and systems associated with a username that the process of changing it is complicated and things can easily break. We often suggest setting up a mailing list with your desired username instead. Then you can use that alias as your email address for all of your correspondence.

You may request a change to their Kerberos username and email address due to a name change (either an administrative name change through MITSIS or a legal name change), a gender change, or for a health or safety issue.

IS&T Service Desk
617-253-1101
servicedesk@mit.edu