Notability Landing Page

Notability Landing Page

On this page:

- Overview
- How to Use
  - iOS
  - Mac OS
- Troubleshooting and FAQ's
- Have Questions or Still Need Help?

Overview

Notability is a note-taking, annotation, and sketching app for Apple computers and mobile devices, enabling users to create and share notes that combine handwriting, typing, drawings, audio, and pictures.

- Create multi-media notes
- Write and sketch naturally
- Record and playback audio
- Share ideas in presentation mode
- Automatic backup and iCloud sync

Due to a change in Notability's license terms, IS&T may no longer provide this application for installation on personally-owned devices. You may install the free version or purchase your own license from Notability for personal use. The MIT-provided license for Notability will remain available only through IS&T's iPad Loan Program for Students. If you are participating in the iPad Loan Program for Students, you do not need to request a license. It will be automatically installed after setup.

How to Use

iOS

Getting Started

- Notability's User Guides
- Your Note Library
- Making a New Note
- Writing With Apple Pencil

Using

- Typing Text and Text Boxes
- Shapes
- Handwriting and Highlighting
- Typing Math and Science Symbols
- Zooming for Detail Work
- Importing Notes
- Document Scan
- Settings

Mac OS

Getting Started

- Notability's User Guides
- Organizing Notes
- Notability for Mac FAQs

Using

- Typing Text and Text Boxes
- Shapes
- Handwriting and Grouping Ink
- Importing, Exporting, Sharing, and backing up Notes

Troubleshooting and FAQ's

- Recovering Deleted Notes for iOS
- Recovering Deleted Notes for Mac OS
- What's my quota for Notability?
  Notability does not have any cloud storage component. You store your own files. You can choose to use cloud services like OneDrive, Dropbox or Google Drive to store your notes and have them sync across all your devices. For more information, see: Data Storage and Collaboration Options.

Have Questions or Still Need Help?

- Notability Support Center is available within the iOS app by tapping the question mark  in the library
- Support is available via support@gingerlabs.com