

Sexual Harassment training freezes when quit mid-way

Q: Sexual Harassment training freezes when quit mid-way

Context

- Quit the web browser when halfway through the Sexual Harassment training. ("Building a Supportive Community" as of 5/18/20)
- Relaunch browser in the MIT Learning Center and then click Continue Course.
- The course remembers your place, but is frozen so that the clear and submit button don't respond when taking the quiz.

Answer

- In the MIT Learning Center, cancel the course in the My Training section and start it again. This should allow you to complete the training.

Related Articles

- Web-based training not recorded as complete