MITx Support

MITx Support

MITx offers massive, open, online courses (MOOCs) through the edX platform. From foundational STEM courses, through explorations of the humanities and social sciences, to advance master's level subjects that may fast=track a master's degree, MITx courses on edX come directly from the MIT classroom and span the full breadth of our academic programs.

Learners from anywhere in the world can enroll in a course of their choosing and learn at no cost, or aim to earn a verified certifcate of completion for a low fee. MITx courses are interactive educational experiences that include interactice problems that provide immediate feedback, discussion formums, videos, readings, and tools that deepen their learning.

MITx also supports the use of digital learning tools and techniques on the MIT campus. We are committed to leveraging best practices in emerging digital and scalable learning environments in our online courses to help learners everywhere succeed.

Assistance with the use of MITx is found at: mitx-support@mit.edu
