Overview

Explain Everything is a feature-rich digital whiteboard app for tablets and web browsers that is licensed for use by MIT students, faculty, and staff. This app for tablets and web browsers goes beyond a traditional whiteboard to a fully interactive multimedia experience that allows the MIT Community to:

- Draw, write, add images and video, annotate and animate content
- Share your whiteboard presentation either on-site or at a distance
- Collaborate in real-time
- Record and narrate as you work to create video for sharing
- More Information:
 - What is Explain Everything?
 - IS&T's Explain Everything

Create Your Account

Sign up with your @mit.edu email to obtain your MIT license.

- Register for an Explain Everything Account

 If you already have an account using your @mit.edu email address, the vendor will be contacting you to transition you to the Institute's license.

This is not a Touchstone sign-on enabled application. You will need to create a [unique, strong password] for this account. Do NOT use your MIT Kerberos password for your Explain Everything Account.

How to Obtain

 The app is included on iPads delivered through IS&T's iPad loan program for students.

Troubleshooting and FAQ's

- What's my storage limit/quota on Explain Everything?
5500 GB
- How many people can participate in a collaborative session?
Up to 20, but 8 or fewer is recommended. This helps the session be more stable. The quality of live collaboration also depends on the quality of the internet connection.
