

GitHub.mit.edu Overview

GitHub.mit.edu Overview

What is GitHub.mit.edu?

GitHub.mit.edu is a MIT site running a hosted version of the GitHub software. It lets people upload and share programming code with others.

How do I use it?

Start by going to <http://github.mit.edu/> and sign in.

The MIT software is a locally-hosted version of the main GitHub software. GitHub has a "bootcamp" guide that helps get started with the site: <https://help.github.com/categories/bootcamp/>

How can I learn more?

MIT-specific documentation is here:

- GitHub Landing Page
- <http://ist.mit.edu/github-enterprise>

General GitHub documentation is here:

- <https://help.github.com/>
- <https://enterprise.github.com/help>