Solution

It is not necessarily an authorization issue. This standalone query limit will only show the org units that have people with invalid addresses (whose home address is blank or whose home address shows an MIT Room or Department) – the fact that you don't see your org unit means that you don't currently have anyone with an invalid address.

There is a new DLC Department Directory report, which has both the DLC Directory and the Invalid address report – if you use that and click on the invalid address report button, you should see a blank page. That may be less confusing than using the standalone invalid address report.
