

Can someone review my website for accessibility?

Q: Can someone review my website for accessibility?

Answer

Yes. There are staff in Disability and Access Services who perform accessibility reviews of websites in development or existing sites. For more information, please email accessibility@mit.edu or see their website for more information about accessibility reviews.