Using language codes in your web page

Using language codes in your web page

If you're creating a web page, writing the html code manually, and you need to enter content in a language that has characters other than those used in English, there's a web page that gives links to information on how to do this:

http://webdesign.about.com/od/localization/l/bllanguagecodes.htm